

This graph is the graph of a logarithmic function, but the given function is exponential. The general shape of an exponential graph is this: it gets close to the  $x$ -axis as  $x$  becomes more and more negative, increases as  $x$  increases, and is curved upward. The correct answer is the only graph with this shape.