

How high each point is above the day of the week shows the balance of Sandra's checking account, according to the numbers on the vertical axis. Between these two days Sandra's balance went from approximately $650 to $50. This means her account dropped about $600. This is the greatest decrease.