

As you move forward in time (going from left to right), the line graph is rising. This means that the mortgage interest rates (shown along the vertical axis) are increasing.