The Undecided category is omitted, so this graph is slightly misleading. Also, categories are combined, so the information is less clear. However, the two categories given are in the correct proportions, so the graph does roughly show the correct Yes to No ratio.