It is true that 20 is a multiple of both 4 and 5, so each player would get a point for drawing it. However, this answer does not take into account all possibilities. First you need to write out the event spaces: the multiples of 4 for Thao and the multiples of 5 for Andy. Then find the probabilities.