

The sides of similar triangles are proportional, so the ratios of corresponding sides are equal. Corresponding sides will be located opposite corresponding (congruent) angles. The measure of $\angle F$ equals the measure of $\angle C$, so DE corresponds to AB , not to BC . The measure of $\angle D$ equals the measure of $\angle A$, so EF corresponds to BC , not to AB .