

The sides are proportional in similar triangles. Set up ratios of corresponding sides from the two triangles, such as $\frac{AB}{XY}$, and set them equal. Then use the length of those sides in the picture to get a specific equation.