

The solid has a parallel pair of circular bases and a smooth, round face between them. This is the definition of a cylinder.