

Incorrect. If you know the diameter (d) of a circle, use the formula $C = \pi d$ to find the circumference (C). If you know the radius (r) of a circle, use the formula $C = 2\pi r$ to find the circumference. Use 3.14 as an approximation for π and round your answer to the nearest tenth of a measurement.