

Incorrect. The length of the semicircle equals half the circumference of one circle. Find the circumference of the semicircle and add the two sides of the triangle to find the entire perimeter. The correct answer is 52.