

An angle that measures between 0° and 90° is called an acute angle, and a triangle with three such angles is called an acute triangle.