

Because two of the side lengths are equal, the triangle is isosceles. However, because one of the angles equals 90° , the triangle is not acute. The correct answer is isosceles right.