

Similar triangles have the same shape (the same angle measurements), but not necessarily the same size.