Nik has been paying $205 per month to pay off his car loan. He recently calculated that he would be done paying for the car on month 36. Which of these equations represents the amount $y$ that Nik still owes $x$ months after he started paying for the car?