

This is the sine of angle A , or the length of the opposite side divided by the length of the hypotenuse.